Chased by outraged residents, Nick Catone went on the run when cops knocked on his door. He was spotted trying to get into a bicycle store in Newry, Co Down, and was arrested on suspicion of attempting to steal the man's bicycle. But the next day it was revealed Catone had already struck. The shop owner woke up to find his watch, bracelet and his wallet had gone. Two days later he was astonished to find out Catone's had made off with his £12,000 diamond ring. And now Catone has also been charged with stealing a Rolex watch from a Newry dentist. The Humans Are Back in our mobile game version "A World of Owls" Welcome to another episode of "A World of Owls" a simulation of Animal Tressure, where Owls are given birth but they are not sent out in the world to learn and if they just stay with their birth families they would become "sad". They would probably starve to death and probably die of predators. Join us for another episode of the World of Owls Game "A World of Owls" Gameplay video. Welcome to another episode of "A World of Owls" Gameplay video where we're trying to change the behavior of owls by teaching them early life skills and not having them always stay with their birth families. We started with the "hatchlings" and we have a stack of births with owls that are still in the nest
